Government cuts mean lost PC may not be replaced

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

GOVERNMENT spending cuts could lead to a permanent reduction of Axminster's neighbourhood beat policing team.

Axminster police sergeant Peter Trudgeon says changes will be made within the neighbourhood beat team to manage the workload created by the non-replacement of PC Darren Herridge.

PC Herridge, who was the neighbourhood beat manager for Axminster town beat, transferred to the response team on January 4th.

The constabulary is conducting an overall review because of government spending cuts.

The vacancy left by PC Herridge will not be filled during the review, and possibly not at all.

Sergeant Trudgeon said: "I'm more than confident we will be able to cope with the work that is coming in."

Axminster has two beats, town and rural.

PC Kevin Bennett is the neighbourhood beat team manager for rural, but will now oversee both, with support from Sergeant Trudgeon.

The Sergeant stressed that the new situation would not affect response officers, and he also pointed out that crime has decreased in Axminster over the last five years.

As an example, official statistics show 479 reported crimes on the town beat in 2005, compared to 298 in 2009. The figure for 2010, up to the end of November, stood at

290. In addition, detection rates for the town beat increased from 24.22 per cent in 2005 to 40.34 per cent in 2010 (end of November).

It remains to be seen if the new arrangement will affect detection rates, but sergeant Trudgeon said: "If we find we have a huge crime increase, we will be able to use officers from other stations to assist."

He also said that Police Community Support Officers (PCSO) Andy Trott and Amanda Jones will take on bigger roles where possible to ease the overall load.

PCSOs are restricted in what they can do, not being allowed to make arrests or get involved in situations where conflict is possible, for example.

It is anticipated that the force will have to make a total cut of £44 million over the next four years, as a result of the Comprehensive Spending Review (CSR) announced by the government. As a result, the force is likely to see a phased loss of 700 police officers and 300 police staff.

Art group bids to give facelift dilapidated Webster's building in Axminster looks set to get a much-needed facelift this coming summer.

Axminster Arts have been working behind the scenes and secured support as well as financial pledges towards a project that would feature a mural, showing how the garage was in the 1950s or EIGHT loyal employees have clocked up almost 300 years of combined service at Axminster Carpets.

Its recent annual Long Service Awards honoured staff who had served either 25, 40 or 50 years.

Presenting the awards, group chairman Simon Dutfield commented: "To have a single employee with an exemplary 25-year service record is quite an accomplishment, but to be able to recognise 40 and even 50 years is extraordinary and goes to underline the commitment and loyalty that has helped Axminster Carpets to become of Britain's most treasured manufacturing companies."

Ann King, Ian Macdonald and Tracey Kaxe have all recorded 25 years of service, as has Ian McDermid, who is regional sales manager for the north of England and Scotland (not pictured). Ernie Webb, Keith Critchard and Dennis Miller have achieved 40 years, while John Albano has dedicated 50 years to the company.

Mr Dutfield added: "It is thanks to the hard work of our employees that Axminster Carpets enjoys a position as one of the most respected carpet manufacturers in the world.

"Our global reputation for carpets of the finest quality is down to the people who are involved in their manufacture and the skills handed down through the generations.

THE home belonging to an Ottery St Mary family is set to undergo a makeover thanks to the BBC.

Since 2009 Ian and Morny Wright, of Slade Road, had been planning to transform their bungalow and create extra rooms for their three young

However, a run of bad luck has hampered the project and now the BBC's 'DIY SOS: The Big Build' has stepped in to help.

A spokesman for the BBC's DIY SOS said: "The Wrights started work on a small extension and loft conversion back in February 2009 but bad luck has severely hampered their progress.
"Dad Ian has had to take on all of the labour himself, with the occansional helping hand from his good friend John, as they don't have enough money to employ traders. Whilst all the work Ian has done is of an excellent standard, he just doesn't have the time or the experience to complete such a massive build. But still he soldiers

"Mum Morny suffers with chronic M.E and is unable to help with the build. On top of the build she has also had to nurse her mother through breast cancer and has suffered the death of her estranged father.

Their youngest son Casper also has behavioural problems which has made life very difficult living in the shell of a small bungalow.

"We feel that they represent hard working families who take on ambitious projects with only the best intentions but for reasons beyond their control things don't work out as planned and they find themselves in dire straights."

Speaking to this newspaper Morny said: "I was absolutely stunned when we were told that DIY SOS

Volunteers in the area are now being urged to come forward and help out on the nine-day build, which starts on St Valentine's Day (February 14th).

The BBC spokesman added: "With the help of the local community we're going to finish the build. This will give the boys the rooms they need for their personal development.

"Ian and Morny are integral members of their community and it is their dream to start a music club for children in the area.

"We are looking for volunteers to help with the nine day build between Monday, February 14th, and Tuesday, February 22nd. Volunteers are then invited back on Wednesday. February 23rd, to welcome the family home.

POLICE INVESTIGATE FAILED ARMED RAID

By BEN MIDDLETON

ben@tindlenews.co.uk

POLICE are continuing to investigate a failed armed raid in Honiton.

The incident took place on Sunday, January 9th, at approximately 7pm in the Rosemount Lane area of the town.

According to police reports armed intruders burst into the property equipped with what is believed to be handguns and a knife.

The incident left David Taylor and his wife Jenny needing hospital treatment. Their son Gary was also hospitalised with minor knife wounds.

A spokesman for Devon and Cornwall Police said: "At around 7pm on Sunday, January 9th, an aggravated burglary occurred at a house located near the town centre in Honiton when the occupants were confronted by two armed men. The two intruders were armed with what is believed to be handguns and a knife. "It is believed the offenders fled from

"It is believed the offenders fled from the scene empty handed when challenged by one of the occupants.

"Following the incident two of the residents, a man and a woman, were taken to hospital suffering from shock and minor injuries."

Police have since confirmed that David

Police have since confirmed that David was released from hospital a short while after being admitted but Jenny had been detained for observations.

A force spokesman has also confirmed to this newspaper that descrpitions of the

He said: "Initial descriptions of the offenders are limited, but more details will be provided once established. Police are still waiting to get a full account from the victims who are a couple in their early 60s and a man in his mid 30s.

early 60s and a man in his mid 30s.
"At this time police are unable to provide a description of the suspects, other than they were two men."

DI Sally Crabtree is leading the investigation and said: "This is a protracted enquiry and it is still very early in the investigation. We would like to appeal to anyone who has information or saw something unusual around the time of the incident to contact us.

"Local police are making additional high visibility patrols in the area and there is nothing to suggest local residents should stop doing what they would normally do. This is thought to be an isolated incident which is very unusual for east Devon.

"I would urge local people to go about their normal daily business but remain vigilant and report anything unusual to us straight away."

In the latest update, police say they are keen to hear from anyone who saw a man running in the area at the time of the incident. Officers are treating the man as a potential witness.

Anyone with information about the incident is asked to contact police on 08452 777444 quoting police reference number 118 100111. Alternatively call Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Youngsters awarded with gold

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

THE achievements of youngsters from across Pulman's Country have been celebrated in Exeter.

Devon County Council (DCC) hosted a Duke of Edinburgh (DofE) Gold Awards ceremony on Saturday, January 8th attended by winners from all over Devon.

Among those to win Gold Awards were Thomas Butron, Anna Elliott and Oliver Persey from Colyton Grammar School, Charlotte Hall and Adam Ward from Honiton Independents and Jake Dove from Kilmington Baptist Group.

The DofE is a personal development programme undertaken as part of leisure time activities.

It challenges young people between the ages of 14 and 25 to serve others, acquire new skills, experience adventure, and make new friends young and old. There are currently 4,500 young people taking part in this programme with DCC

A DCC spokesperson explained: "Participants, regardless of their economic circumstances, ability or disability, are encouraged to develop existing interests or try something new.

"Whatever they choose to do for their programme, they can find enjoyment, excitement and satisfaction.

"The scheme is run under a licence held by Devon Youth Service and is delivered through more than 70 groups in Devon including schools, colleges, youth clubs and voluntary organisations.

"The scheme is not competitive, and anyone with the necessary perseverance, enterprise and effort can gain a DofE Award.

"Young people are encouraged to choose activities which suit their particular interest and talents, challenge their perceptions and which are appropriate to the environment in which they live."

As part of their comprehensive programmes, Thomas Burton did bushcraft, Oliver Persey studied human rights and Charlotte Hall did a week-long course in cell biology and genetics at Cambridge.

Adam Ward was a Devon Youth Parliament member and spoke in the House of Commons.

Jake Dove helped in a day centre for adults with learning disabilities and did a residential in the Scottish mountains.

The youngsters were presented with their awards by Sir John Cave, Vice Lord-Lieutenant of Devon.

The Gold Award can take a number of years to achieve, the average being around two.

Each participant has to cover five different areas of achievement — a volunteering project, skills, physical recreation, expedition and residential experience.

County councillor Christine Channon, Cabinet member for Schools and Skills, said prior to the event: "Congratulations to these remarkable young people for achieving this fantastic accolade.

"I am delighted that once again so many young people from across Devon have been involved in this superb scheme, having undertaken a wide and varied range of projects and expeditions to achieve this award.

"The scheme provides young people with a real breadth of skills — from volunteering to physical challenges, developing existing talents or trying something new, taking part in an expedition and undertaking a residential trip as part of a team.

"These are all skills that will provide them with invaluable assets towards further education, employment and training, as well as helping local communities, charities and voluntary groups."

ALEXANDER PAUL ANTIQUES DISCOVER MASSIVE TABLE IN RURAL FRANCE!!

What a great job I have!

It sounds wonderfully romantic to set off for France with a mission to "just buy lots of old antique tables". Its not always as easy as it sounds; treasure seekers have been scouring France for many years looking for those hidden gems and with each passing year it becomes harder and harder to find something special.

The secret is to have plenty of time available; time to leave no stone unturned and call on every little "brocante and meubles" shop there is, from Cherbourg to St Tropez. Sadly we do not have that much time but we certainly travel many hundreds of miles covering all of northern France as far south as a line drawn across from La Rochelle.

We have over the years developed a network of contacts who we have come to rely on, to save us the best tables; they in turn rely on our regular visits to move these gems on.....This arrangement also saves us a great del of time and so we travel along buying the best tables when we see them, enjoying the experience and having faith that we will continue to find these beautiful antiques

Most of us are now familiar with the long distance toll roads in France, but we hanker after the roads and villages that time forgot and to visit there some of the dealers who hide away in these quiet backwaters of rural France playing boules in the village square.

One particular fellow we call on doesn't speak any

One particular fellow we call on doesn't speak any English at all; this always makes buying tables off him especially fun; he seems very up to date however with the price he charges us!

We see many tables, both good and not so good, well cared for and rotten and wonderful as it is to buy the best of these tables (and it is) I am always on the look out for something extra special, As such it was with delight that I looked in the direction my old friend was pointing.

At the back of his shed was a massive table over 9 foot long, 3 and 1/2 feet wide and the top made of 3 huge boards each nearly 2 inches thick!

This is what I had come to France for; a really special

It took four of us to load this onto the van; with lots of grunting and laughter.

I could relax now.......I had found the jewel of this trip and could return home satisfied!

We currently have about 35 stunning French provincial dining tables available for sale on our web site together with a fantastic selection of coffee tables and serving tables. They all share in common, beautiful colour and a soft patination which comes with great age.

As for our massive table?

It's not yet restored but soon will be and as soon as it is, like all our other beautiful tables will appear on our website.

Workshop for farmers on boundary funding venue for a workshop aimed at east Devon farmers and land managers.

The workshop is organised by Natural England and will focus on boundary nagement techniques funding options

Experienced advisers will be on hand on Tuesday, January 25th to outline the wide variety of different farm boundaries and the most appropriate management methods available such as traditional hedge laying.

They will answer individual queries and offer guidance to help farmers in Environmental Stewardship agreements ensure they meet the Rural Payments Agency inspection criteria.

Helen Merchant, Natural England project manager for farm advice in Devon and Cornwall, said: "The day will be a great opportunity for those currently in an Entry Level Stewardship (ELS) agreement and we aim to provide farmers with the skills and knowledge to manage their existing ELS boundary options.

"We are particularly keen to influence the selection of options of those who will be shortly renewing their agreements in order to maximise the benefits to wildlife habitat within the farm environment."

The session starts with registration at 1pm and will finish at 4.30pm.

As it will be conducted on site, attendees are advised to wear suitable clothing and footwear

Tea, coffee and light refreshments will be provided. To book a place on the workshop, call 0780 190 2782 or email: fati@aeat.co.uk stating the date of the event in the title of the email as well as including names of those attending, full postal address, telephone number, farm size and type, and holding number.

Secondary schools get good marks

By BEN MIDDLETON

SECONDARY schools across Pulman's Country have performed well according to the latest set of league tables, released on Wednesday, January

The tables show the GCSE and A-level results achieved by pupils who took the exams last summer.

New measures introduced by the coalition government mean 35 per cent of pupils taking GCSEs must score at least five A* to C grades including English and maths. Any schools falling below this mark will come under scrutiny to make sure they improve.

Just over 77 per cent of pupils at Axe Valley Community

College, Axminster, gained five or more A* to C grades including English and maths.

A level students at the Axminster college also scored well, with an average points score per candidate of 604.1. Colyton Grammar School was ranked among the top three schools in the country for GCSE results, with 100 per cent of pupils gaining five or more A* to C grades including English and maths.

For A levels, Colyton was in the top five schools nationally, with an average points score per candidate of 1298.6 - equivalent to more than four A* grades.

Paul Evans, headteacher at Colyton Grammar School, said: "I am proud that the efforts of our students have been recognised and these excellent results reflect both their hard work and the support of staff.

"Of course, there are many ways to judge a good school and I'm also proud of the range of community, leadership and extra-curricular activities such as sport and drama students have participated in."

Seventy one per cent of youngsters at Honiton Community College scored five or more A* to C in GCSE. A level students at Honiton achieved an average points score of 589.3.

In Ottery St Mary, 78 per cent of pupils at The King's School achieved five or more A* to C in GCSE and A level students had an average points score of 690.7.

A spokesman for Devon County Council said: "Secondary schools across Devon have continued to improve their performance at GCSE. Over the past five years the percentage of pupils gaining five or more GCSEs at A* to C grades, including English and maths, has gone up from 46 to 54.7.

'The county's overall percentage rose by 2.9 per cent from 51.8 per cent in 2009 to 54.7 per cent last year. Over three quarters of Devon's secondary schools improved their results in 2010 compared with 2009.

"This continued progression is despite Devon being one of the worst funded education authorities in the country."

Too much of a good thing

IT has been said that you can have too much of a good thing. I think perhaps this was the case on Saturday - although I am not entirely sure for which party.

I usually spend a chunk of my Saturdays working from home but last weekend my majority day was swapped to Sunday.

Instead of holed up in the office staring at a screen, edited news pages and writing headlines, I was out and about and preparing to do some decorating.

My job for Saturday was glossing interior doors. Sounds riveting, right? Think I'd rather be writing

My Lovely Farmer was sanding down and doing other 'man jobs' but, in order for us to begin our list of tasks set, we had to take a trip to Bradfords.

The builders' merchant in Axminster was our destination, we were well looked after and were soon driving away with what we wanted. Trouble is, it wasn't everything we wanted. We had forgotten something important.

So back we went and I was nominated as chief buyer, so I entered the shop for the second time that morning.

Of course, the staff obliged and off we went back home. As we returned, however, the thing we had forgotten and went back a second time for was not the right thing after all. In fact, it was the wrong thing at twice the price.

Voted in again as collection person (because my glossing obviously wasn't important enough), I wearily got back in the car for yet another visit to the merchant trader. Dean and his team at Bradfords sorted the problem efficiently, as always, and even brought the correct thing up form the yard for me (very kind).

I was just thinking, is three trips to Bradfords on one Saturday morning (when they are only open between 8am and 12.30pm) too much?

As I was thinking this, Dean said: "I don't mean to be rude, Kate, but I hope I don't see you again today!" The cheek! Too much of a good thing, I suspect. Although I'm sure I was the good thing in question.

■ I would like to say a massive congratulations to young Tim Rogers who is an up-and-coming event rider based in Axminster.

Tim has been selected again — for the 2011-2013 World Development Programme — a UK Sportfunded project which helps and supports a small selection of talented riders maximise their potential.

It is also a gateway for the Olympics, choosing the country's best new riders with the potential to win future medals for GB. Tim impressed the selection judges yet again.

Tim works incredibly hard ensuring his horses are fit, healthy and well looked after as well as continually aspiring to better his riding skills and horses' abilities.

The attitude of this young man is refreshing and his care for the animals is exceptionally high.

Tim's family, who have an on-site yard at their Wyke home, give up a great deal of time so that they can support him in his quest and mum Jane works tirelessly to ensure things run as smoothly as they possibly can where horses are concered.

This young rider is definitely one to watch for the future. We are lucky to have top GB event rider Mary King on our doorstep and we could have another on our patch too, ready to help bring ribbons back for our county and country. Watch this space.

celebrating one year in business. Martin Farrant, of Bay Tree Shoe Repairs, Mill Street, took over the business on February 1st 2010.

He says he has enjoyed his first year and is looking forward to expanding his services over the next 12 months

Speaking to Pulman's View, Mr Farrant said: "I have had a very encouraging first year. My idea was to survive the first year and then start to turn a profit in the second year.

"In the first year I had a lot of things that I had to pay out for like the window display, signage, website, tools and materials and I won't have that in my second year so that should make things a little easier.'

Services on offer at Bay Tree Shoe Repairs include shoe repairs, watch battery fitting and watch strap fitting, dry cleaning, key cutting and engraving and knife and scissor sharpening. Mr Farrant is also urging his customers to ask him if there are any other services that he could offer.

He said: "People can come in and offer any suggestions for services that I should be offering or opening

Snow clearing mystery solved

EDITOR - In last week's (January 11th) edition of Pulman's View you published a letter entitled 'Thank you to good Samaritan for helping us out in the snow', but your correspondent was not able to identify the young man with tractor and bucket attachment, who cleared the snow from Sector Lane.

We too live along Sector Lane and can clear up the mystery. It is the Strawbridge family of Payne's Place Farm to whom our thanks are due.

Their public-spiritedness, at a time council gritters snowploughs were notable by their absence, is to be applauded and I know from talking to other residents that everyone is very appreciative of all their efforts.

It is no easy task navigating a heavy tractor up and down a narrow icy lane, but they worked systematically along the road, stopping traffic as necessary to ensure no danger to other road users, and worked for many many hours to make the road passable.

Town wasn't given option to vote 'no'

Devon County Council shows his extraordinary arrogance by continually insisting parking meters should stay in

He claims people in the town wanted

What a joke! When I was a town councillor I remember DCC staff coming to a meeting and telling us in no uncertain terms that Seaton was going to get parking meters whether we liked it or not and there was nothing we could do to stop them.

They then proceeded to do a joke of a consultation which wasn't advertised so hardly anyone knew about it.

The questionnaire gave two options

No option to pick to say we didn't want

Yet Mr Hughes is using this as his basis for not scrapping the meters. Mr Hughes has even said that Seaton has been treated more fairly than other Devon towns regarding parking meters.

EDITOR - AJ's Big Band has been in existence for over 26 years and has played hundreds of engagements across the westcountry and beyond.

At the end of 2010, the band was booked by Seaton's Voice for their New Year's Eve Ball at Seaton Town Hall.

We would like to record that this event was one of the best that we have had the pleasure of performing.

The organisers went to great lengths to get the format absolutely right and the hall itself was transformed into a welcoming venue with seasonal warmth.

Most importantly, Seaton's Voice effectively marketed the ball so there was a capacity attendance thus ensuring a great atmosphere throughout the evening.

Congratulations therefore to Seaton's

THE January meeting of Musbury and Whitford Musbury and Whitford Women's Institute took place at Whitford Village Hall on Tuesday, January 11th.

The speaker was Gail McGarva, a boat builder based in Lyme Regis the only lady to build wooden boats in the world.

She started out with a daughter boat, based on one in Unst, in the Shetlands, where it is becoming a dying trade

Her mentor based in Unst, is named Willy, and all communication was done by phone and post.

He insisted that she get the second plank right, because if it wasn't the whole shape of the boat would be wrong

Needless to say she got it right and went on to build a pilot gig boat for Lyme Regis.

The group has raised a tidy sum for the Women's Refuge, and members decided how it was to be spent.

The resolution voting slips were collected

Members were named as to who will be completing the origins of foodstuffs survey and we were asked to think about who will be named as our local charity for this year.

There will be a Fairtrade coffee morning on March 2nd from 10am to 12noon in Musbury Village Hall's committee room

Boat builder tells all to WI Festival holds its 17th annual meet for 2010

THE annual meeting of the Axe Vale Festival took place at the Surgery, Church Axminster on Wednesday 24th November 2010.

The chairman started the meeting by thanking all those present for coming to the 17th meeting.

The minutes of the 2009 annual meeting were approved.

He went onto say that the show had been successful but the attendance was down by 800 visitors.

This was partly due to the very hot veather and also the outcome of a World Cup match played by the Americans which, with the result, had succeeded in putting the England game on Sunday afternoon and not

This had kept many of the keen England fans at home, despite two televisions in the licensed bar.

The exhibitors present at the show were up, a total of 418 which had given a wide variety of goods for sale.

The chairman explained that the ixe Vale Festival had given donations of £126,000 to charities in Axminster and the surrounding areas since its conception and he felt that the founder David Swarbrick would have been extremely pleased with the results. The show had grown over the years and with it the committee.

He thanked the Burrough and Newberry families for allowing the festival to take place on their land.

Without this generous offer it would not take place.

He went on to thank the helpers and committee for all their hard work throughout the year.

Tom Stuckey a representative from the young farmers' thanked the chairman for all the help that is given to them from the festival committee with the young farmers' annual ball which takes place following the show.

Roy Winterburn, representing the Flamingo Pool, also thanked the festival for the money it had raised, which goes to help support the up keep of the pool.

Group learns new approach

MEMBERS of Lyme Regis Art Group spent a fascinating afternoon with one of our best-known and talented artists, Lynda White on November 16th.

Lynda is renowned for her innovative approach to the use of different media and her workshops and courses on the use of watercolour have played a vital part in encouraging and teaching local artists. She introduced us to a new technique - the use of coloured charcoal.

The for inspiration demonstration had come from one of her courses where traditional charcoal is rubbed across a watercolour and then erased out to reveal areas of brightness.

Lynda first produced a beautifully delicate watercolour painting of blackberries with autumn leaves, using ultramarine and burnt sienna for the darkest tones, and cadmium yellow and red for the unripe berries. She then rubbed swathes of the coloured charcoal right across the painting whilst keeping up commentary on exactly which colours and techniques were being used. After this draconian act, she produced a variety of erasers, including a battery driven one-surely the ultimate in labour-saving devices for artists.

She then carefully rubbed away areas of the charcoal to reveal the bright leaves and highlighted blackberries underneath.

Darker areas of the picture were emphasised with more charcoal, creating a more energetic and dramatic picture from the original very delicate watercolour.

Headteacher takes wider view for talk tables showed Colyton Grammar School to be the top co-ed state school in England, based on 2010. GCSE results in headteacher Mr Paul Evans chose to take a wider view.

Speaking to the Devonshire Association's Axe Valley branch, at its first Colyton Peace Memorial Pavilion meeting of the New Year, he emphasised the imperative that "we don't want to be an exam factory which also placed his institution third of all English state schools, single sex or co-ed, made him proud of the hard work by his young people, and the staff who taught them.

Mr Evans said that such results

Going back to the beginnings Mr Evans, a Devonian both of whose parents held office as Lord Mayor of Plymouth, blamed the creation of his school on King Henry VIII.

He chose to execute his cousin Henry Courtney, owner of much east Devon land in and around Colyton.

After which the ever loyal Feofees of the town were allowed to buy some of the Courtney land back and, as part of their charitablle activities, started a school above the church porch.

The handsome school house next door was built in 1612.

There was some slight spread into surrounding buildings but by 1875 there were only six boys — each costing £4.45 a year compared with £4,232 now

Closure followed from 1899 to 1905 before a re-opening brought in pupils from surrounding Axe Valley towns and villages.

The first two girls arrived in 1913 and by the 1920s there was a roll of 120, compared to 808 this year...

The present Colyford site was bought in 1925 and the newly built school opened on January 15th, 1929.

The school moved competently along for the next half century without creating waves outside its area but then some time in the 1980s head teacher Barry Sindall and his governors decided to aim higher.

At the next meeting on February 9th Pulman's View columnist Tony Jackson will speak on Big Cats, Beasts and Birds in east Devon.

THIS is a Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Elizabeth Lynn said: "We take turns here in Axminster to worship together in a different church each day. Like the early Christian church we read the word of God and pray together and share in fellowship afterwards.

"But in the material prepared this vear by the Christian Community in Jerusalem, we are challenged to emulate that early group of Christians in more ways even than that; breaking bread together, devoting ourselves in love to each other and sharing burdens so that we may be more visibly united and be able to speak with authority about justice and peace. What a vision for the year ahead! Thank you, Lord!"

At Honiton Methodist Church this week will be marked by a time of worship on Wednesday, January 19th followed by a simple lunch and members of all churches are warmly welcome. Gittisham the speaker at the meeting of the Mission Community Council on Wednesday, January 26th at 7.30pm will be Katherine Lyddon Exeter Diocesan Youth Adviser. Other events at this time have been an Epiphany Party at St Michael's Colyford, and an Epiphany Carol Service at Colyton on Sunday last.

More news has come this week from the Exeter Diocese link with the churches in the Middle East. The Rev Andrew Thompson recently Chaplain at Kuwait and now moving to be Chaplain at Abu Dhabi has been made a Member of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) for his promotion of dialogue Christians and Muslims in Kuwait. At the same time word comes from Canon Andrew White that worship at St George's Baghdad celebrated the coming of the Wise Men with their gifts. Canon White adds that despite the fleeing of many Christians following recent atrocities, the congregation at St George's has once more begun to be the control of the contro bulge at its seams.

At the weekend before last BBC Radio marked the 400th anniversary of the first publication of the King James Bible which has become deeply embedded in the English language. It was not really about religion but more about the language which does not now feature so much in schools. Famous actors and clerics took part and read extracts throughout the day, and by all accounts had a large audience.

We close on a practical note for churches who may be thinking of themselves and their communities by making fuller use of their buildings by allowing space for a post office.

Helpful guidance is given in a publication entitled "Guidelines and Best Practice for the Provision of Community Shops in Churches and Chapels".

7 Reasons Why You Must Make A Will

1. You decide who will receive the benefits from your estate and not the law

2. If you are not married but have a partner your partner will receive nothing unless you make a will

3. If you are divorced, you can decide to leave something to your former

4. You can make the best use of allowances to reduce the amount of

Inheritance Tax to be paid

5. If you have children, you can nominate who you choose to care for them

6. If you have no surviving relatives, everything could automatically pass to the state

7. You can decide to leave a donation to charity

Arguably everyone over the age of 18 should make a will, but certainly when you have a partner and children become involved, it is absolutely vital.

PUPILS at Colyton Grammar School have collected more than 600kg of food in aid of the Exeter Foodbank.

the Tesco application for the town.

Tescowatch Seaton is a group of local people who banded together to monitor the Tesco application in the town and report any discrepancies to East Devon District Council (EDDC).

However, the group was close to being dissolved as a prominent member felt it was not being listened to by the district council.

James Semple, former spokesman for Tescowatch Seaton, said: "I do not think we can do anything to stop Tesco. EDDC will not listen to anything against Tesco and no-one else will act on our behalf.

"That being so, I think we should dissolve Tescowatch and take what is coming to us."

Tescowatch Seaton was formed in December 2009 and during a two-day exhibition more than 30 people signed up to join. Volunteers who joined the group where asked to adopt one of the 80-plus planning conditions imposed on Tesco by EDDC and report any discrepancies to the relevant authority.

In an online blog, Mr Semple added: "Tescowatch is futile. We set it up to watch over Tesco and tell EDDC about any transgressions, expecting them to jump to defend the public interest. How naive can you get?

"EDDC are making things as easy as possible for Tesco. Since no-one will listen to us, there is no point in complaining about anything."

However, Mr Semple has confirmed that Tescowatch will continue but that he will be taking a back seat.

He said: "Whatever my feelings on the matter, a number of Tescowatch stalwarts are keen to continue with the project, and I am happy to support them. "While I may have lost touch with the movement, the movement will continue with other leaders. I will still do work for Tescowatch — but others will be forming policy and representing Tescowatch to the powers ranged against

"2011 will bring many changes to Seaton — here's hoping we can live with them."

Walk of ages

IN terms of the more recent history of this country we tend to use the invasion of the Romans, some 2,000 years ago, as a cut-off point and the commencement of "civilisation" as we understand it, yet for thousands of years prior to that period this country was inhabited by our ancestors, men and women who lived, worked and existed within those eras we term the Bronze and Iron Ages.

In terms of real time they are but a flick of an eye away from us even though they may seem so remote. Now, there is a chance to explore something of the history and background of those earlier inhabitants through a special walk organised by the Blackdown Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) team and which will be led by archaeologist Hazel

The walk is intended to discover something of the Iron Age history of the Blackdown Hills and to explore the prehistoric hill fort at Dumpdon Hill, owned by the National Trust, and which was built 2,500 years ago.

The site has been explored and examined over the past 20 years, since the Great Storm of 1990 destroyed many of the beech trees on the hill to expose the ground and make excavations possible. The event will show how these remains and marks of the past can be seen in today's landscape, and especially in winter when the lack of cover makes it easier to see and interpret the surface of the land.

Those attending the walk will learn how hill forts were constructed and discover the ways and manner of Iron Age life in the surrounding hamlets and farms.

The walk takes place this coming Saturday, January 22nd, commencing at 10am. If you'd like to take part book at the AONB office on 01823 680681 or email: blackdownhills@devon.gov.uk.

Now, do you perchance have an interest in marine life and would like to know more and extend your knowledge? Would you care to understand more about Marine Protected Areas and the difference between European and National Marine Sites?

Do you know a blenny from a goby or an edible from a shore crab? Well, Dorset Wildlife Trust is offering the chance to discover more about marine biology and conservation through volunteering at the Fine Foundation Marine Centre, Kimmeridge Bay.

Quite simply, volunteer Marine Wardens are being recruited to assist the DWT team to run the marine centre, welcome visitors, lead public events and promote the seashore, while working with the centre's team. It doesn't matter that you may have no experience in these areas, as you will learn "on the job" through mentoring and by regular training and through practical activities on the shore. There is also a training and events programme for volunteers.

The Kimmeridge Marine Wardens have been looking after and protecting the Purbeck Marine Wildlife Reserve for some seven years through an awareness and education programme on the beach in the summer months, pointing out to visitors the astonishing array of marine life on the shore. So, if you would like to join marine file on the shore. So, if you would like to Join the team and spend time on this beautiful stretch of Dorset coast, while helping to preserve its marine wildlife, contact Julie Hatcher on 01929 481044 or email kimmeridge@dorsetwildlifetrust.org.uk by January 31st. Volunteer Marine Wardens must be over 18, have their own transport and be able to commit to two days a month.

What a dreary time of the year this is! The days are grey, misty and sodden and the countryside, for the most part, resembles a brown and pallid green patchwork. My garden is a nightmare of damaged plants, as a result of the bitter weather in December, shredded grass and depressed-looking hedges and shrubs. Yet I know that within a few weeks there will be a revival, a resurgence of hope and growth and a total transformation. Hopefully, my pond will display life, newts, frog spawn and water life will once again appear, though at the moment the black water and dead vegetation is hardly encouraging. April is only a few weeks away, the days are drawing out and, once again, the countryside will put on its spring outfit.

 MEZZO soprano Bethia Hourigan is coming back to Uplyme for a concert in Uplyme Church on Saturday, January 22nd, starting at 7.30pm.

Bethia grew up in Uplyme, moving there with her family when she was 11. She went to school in Taunton and from there to the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama.

She is currently studying for a Masters in Music at Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance in London under Teresa Cahill.

Her ambition is to work with leading opera companies, and many will remember the wonderful concert she gave in the church in 2007.

Her repertoire includes classical, opera, folk and musical theatre.

Highlights of her solo experience include singing in Barcelona Cathedral and being selected for the Kathleen Ferrier Competition in Blackburn.

In Uplyme she will be singing a selection of classical and folk songs.

Ashley Marshfield who until recently was at the Royal College of Music will be her accompanist.

Ashley also accompanied her at the 2007 concert and the programme will include an organ recital by Ashley.

There is no admission charge but the church hopes that all can make a very generous donation at the end of the concert.

As with other Uplyme Church concerts, all the proceeds go to the performers after expenses have been met.

HE band, Joey the Lips will perform its funky soul, blues and disco revue on Saturday, January 29th in a gig organised by Seaton's Voice.

In 2001 Joey the Lips was resident band on Carlton TV's Langsford Late TV show — a series of eight chat shows with Ruth Langsford. In between, the band performed and recorded a promotional video for the BBC on the set of Noel Edmonds House Party at BBC Television Centre, London, and then finished work on a number of projects including a recording of Midnight Hour with another American soulster, Geno Washington.

PANTO SEASON

Alternative panto

MEMBERS of All Saints Pantomime Society are busy rehearsing twice a week for their next production, Snow White and the Alternative Seven.

Once again, Jo Ellis has written an original script based around the well-known story in which most of the usual characters are included plus a few unusual ones.

Jane Pollard takes the role of Snow White with Clive Bareham as her father, Lord Poshington-Smythe, who has recently married the wicked Lady Poshington-Smythe, played by Gay Atkinson.

The society has welcomed several new members this year, one of whom is Steve Holt who has taken on the role of Tom the Lumberjack with great enthusiasm.

There are no dwarves in this panto but a motley group of geriatric and loudly protesting hippies who look after Snow White until the somewhat affected Prince Unfortunata (Angela Drake) appears and falls madly in love with her.

Tina Mackenny provides the music for some well known songs and, this year, the show is directed by Angela Drake.

The show will be performed in All Saints Village Hall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 3rd, 4th and

Tickets are available from Anthea on 01460-221088 and also be ordered barehams@beaconcot.co.uk

Alternatively they can be purchased at All Saints Village Hall between 7.30 pm - 8.30 pm on Mondays and Fridays.

Ticket prices are adults £5 and children £2.50 (Thursday and Friday) with all tickets £5 on Saturday. There will also be a charity performance on Saturday February 12th at 7.15pm.

Tickets for this show are £10, to include a light supper.

Perfect post-Christmas lift with drama club comedy

AXMINSTER Drama Club says it will provide the perfect post-Christmas lift through its comedy panto, Sleeping Beauty.

To make it suitable for all the family the show is fast, the jokes are inoffensive - and the special effects, costumes and scenery are again beyond what people new to Axminster expect from an amateur production.

The script is again produced for the local audience by Chris Lane, who also directs this year.

Unlike last year's very successful Robin Hood, which was on its third airing for Axminster, Sleeping Beauty is a world premiere and will then go through a re-write to make it suitable for the international audiences that enjoy Chris's scripts (this season scripts have been sent flying off to Nigeria, USA, Ireland, Canada, New Zealand and all over England).

Club chairman Tim Leat says preparations are going well and it looks like being another inventive and colourful panto not to be missed.

Ticket prices have been kept the same as last year at £9 for adults and £6 for children and OAPs.

There is a £2 discount on all adult tickets bought in advance and a family ticket can be purchased for £24 in advance at from Archway Bookshop, Axminster. The dates of the show are from January 20th to 22nd January with evening performances at 7.30pm plus a matinee at 2.30pm on Saturday January 22nd.

REHEARSALS for Colyton Theatre Group's production of Sinbadaladdin are progressing

Most of the large cast have now been kitted out in costumes and perfomances will take place in Colyton Town Hall at 7.30pm from Wednesday, January 26th to Saturday, January

In addition, there will also be a matinee

Tickets are priced at £6 for adults and £3 for children — available at Colyton Pharmacy, Steve's Print in Seaton, and Archway Bookshop

HILE it may no longer be fashionable to serve up puff pastry vol-au-vents at a party, equally tragic looking is a roomful of hungry guests nibbling miserably on a bowl of crisps.

According to Lucy Cufflin, author of Lucy's Food, the canape is very often ignored by party hosts, despite being an easy and relatively cheap way of impressing your friends, a brilliant way to avoid the dreaded dinner party and a good way to make sure guests are kept fully sated throughout the night.

Here are her tips for creating "maximum effect" canapes with "minimum effort".

- If you are planning to serve canapes in place of a meal then you need 10-12 per person. If it is pre-dinner then three to four, and if it is a drinks party or shorter period of time, then around eight per person.
- Keep the selection small: remember people like to have seconds of something delicious. If you are planning to serve 12 per person, perhaps limit the choice to 6 or 7 types
- Make sure you have a selection of meat, fish and vegetarian canapes to serve.
- It's great to have a mixture of hot and cold canapes. Lay them out on a few oven trays, so you can slot them in the oven as you need them. You don't want them all to come out at the same time.
- Remember, canapes are eaten with fingers, so warm ones want to be warm, rather than too hot to handle!
- Nothing looks worse than a canape tray with two to three canapes left, so re-fill once it's two thirds empty so it always looks inviting.
- In between replenishing canapes, give your plates a little wash so they always look freshly made up.
- Pop sprigs of fresh herbs or even flowers on the trays. It's wise to get these garnishes planned in advance, so you can quickly add them to the trays as they leave the kitchen.
- Keep cold canapes covered so they do not dry out and think about where you are going to store them. The fridge can be too cold and may affect texture and taste, so a larder is ideal or another cool part the house.
- Write yourself a list of what to make when and make sure you give yourself plenty of time. Children, dogs, TV, telephone all get in the way!
- Ask friends or family to help, as making canapes can be a very sociable affair. Get some good music playing, have a drink while you prepare and enjoy!

Steak and horseradish croustades (25-30 bite-size croustades)

1 part-baked baguette Olive oil to drizzle

150-200g rump steak

A little vegetable oil

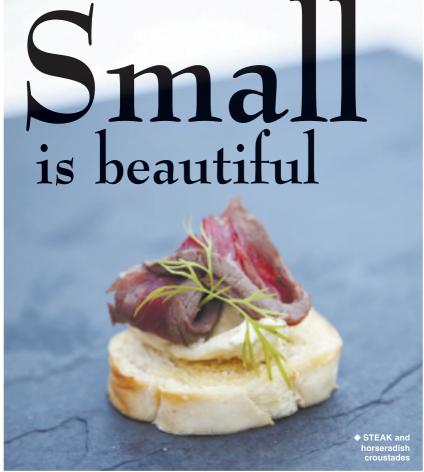

3tbsp horseradish sauce

150ml double cream

Small handful of rocket or other herb, to garnish

Slice the baguette into five mm-thick slices (25-30 slices). Place on a baking sheet (no need to grease) and drizzle over the olive oil. Just a drop on each is fine as the oil will soak through the bread as it cooks. Cook uncovered for six to eight minutes or until the croustades are golden-brown. They need to be slightly crispy, but not dark brown or they will be too hard and taste burnt. Allow to cool then store in a plastic bag or sealed container. These will keep for up to one month in an airtight container in a cupboard, so make them when you have leftover bread and some spare space in the oven. Then you can simply pull them out of the cupboard when you want them - easy!

Rub the steak on both sides with the oil and heat a frying pan until smoking. Cook for one to two minutes on each side. Season with salt and wrap in foil. Leave to cool then chill for at least one hour, or up to 24 hours in the fridge.

Whisk the cream and horseradish sauce together until thick (about one minute). Cut off any fat and slice the beef wafer-thin. Put teaspoonfuls of cream onto the croustades and then one to two slivers of beef piled up. Top with a little leaf or herb sprig.

Lucy's tips: Own-brand horseradish sauce is fine for these croustades, but remember to stay close to the oven while they are cooking to avoid burning them.

The Green Hornet (12A, 118 mins)

OSCAR-WINNING writer-director Michel Gondry has steadfastly refused to compromise his creativity on the big screen, conjuring some of the most memorable and quirky romantic comedies of recent times (Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, The Science of Sleep) as well as a surreal tale of video piracy starring Jack Black and Mos Def (Be Kind Rewind).

Now, he helms his most expensive and high profile project to date: an action comedy based on the masked avenger from George W Trendle's popular radio series.

Seth Rogen and Evan Goldberg, who penned Superbad and Pineapple Express, co-write the screenplay of this bigbudget film version, which centres on James Reid (Tom Wilkinson), the most prominent and respected media magnate in Los Angeles.

When the tycoon dies in mysterious circumstances, his wastrel son Britt (Seth Rogen) reluctantly abandons the city's hedonistic party scene to taken control of the media empire which includes The Daily Sentinel.

He forges an unlikely friendship with his father's driver, Kato (Jay Chou), and together they decide to fight crime on the city streets by posing as criminals.

In his guise as The Green Hornet, Britt strikes fear into the heart of the underworld controlled by the nefarious Benjamin Chudnofsky (Christoph Waltz), aided in no small part by Kato's seemingly indestructible car, The Black Beauty, which is outfitted with all of the latest gismos and firepower.

Sexy new secretary Lenore Case (Cameron Diaz) proves a valuable ally in the battle against injustice but Britt underestimates the size of the task that lies ahead and the determination of Chudnofsky, who will stop at nothing to swat The Green Hornet and seize back control of Los

Pulman's View FIRST WITH THE LOCAL SPORT — EVERY WEEK

THE CHOSEN ONES, AGA

By ANDERS LARSSON

A YOUNG Axminster event rider, who shot to fame last year, has been re-selected for a equestrian development programme.

Eighteen-year-old Tim Rogers was already on the British Equestrian Federation World Class Development Programme - and he is delighted to have been included on the new list for 2011-

Tim enjoyed a very successful 2010, which included taking a bronze medal at the Junior Eventing European Championships in Germany.

The UK Sport-funded development programme helps selected and talented riders to maximise their potential in various ways.

Tim said: "I'm delighted to have been reselected for the world class development Programme, it's brilliant news.

"Having access to the wide range of support that the programme provides, from dieticians to training sessions, has proved invaluable so far.

"I'm sure that their continued support will be a great help as I look to build upon past successes. "I hope to be in contention for the Young Riders' Championships this year and I'm sure the support of the programme will help me to achieve this."

British Equestrian performance director Will Connell added: "The selection process was slightly changed this time and carried on over a longer period of time allowing applicants to be viewed in competition.

"The standard of rider applying was higher than ever and the selectors had a difficult job; but, that's excellent news for us as a nation as it reflects the wealth of talent that we are fortunate

HONITON GOLF CLUB

Sun Am Winter League

ANOTHER round of Sun Am matches and the leagues are all looking pretty tight.

There were no humiliations to report this week, just the usual round of friendly banter following a most enjoyable morning's sport. And on this subject I would like to make special mention of Jason Gosling who has battled through most rounds playing as a singleton. When he applies himself he can be a very good golfer indeed and although he was giving away buckets full of shots he fought to the very last, never bowing to the inevitable. It really was a delight to watch his second shot to the par four 16th that landed and stopped on the temporary green just a foot from the pin.

Senior Section

The seniors had a surprise this week. The usual early morning telephone call to the club came back with the message "the course is open for play'

Instead of the expected return to a warm bed it was a case of stumbling in the dark to find the kit

The competition was a three ball better ball with two scores to count and after a long lay off from the adverse weather it might have been expected that scores would suffer Not the case as, despite a recent handicap cut, Seniors' Captain Bill Nicholls partnered by John Gillingham and Bob Milton teed off first and recorded the highest score with 80 points.

Close behind was the trio of Peter Shepherd, Norman Ede and John Foster with 78, followed closely by Peter Morgan, John Ayland and Robin Mitchell 77 and Stan Squire, Keith Thomas and David Beer on 76 With some temporary greens "twos may have been in short supply but seven players showed that they had not lost their touch with the putter.

AXE CLIFF GOLF CLUB

Ladies' Section THIS Wednesday before the rain arrived the Ladies played a nine hole Foursomes competion.

The winners after count back from Hazel Williamson and Janet Dack were Lady Captain Pat Ayshford and Vice Captain Barbara Cummings.

Main Club

The main club competed this Sunday for round fve of the Winter League. The winners with 45 points were Martin Cox and Paul Curtin.

Second with 43 points were Pete Northcott and Iim Matthews and third with 42 points were Pete Keats and Brian Kelland.

LYME REGIS GOLF CLUB

EW GENERATION

WHILE the extreme wintry conditions outside were picturesque albeit prohibitive for golf, members of Lyme Regis Golf Club assembled to recall and celebrate triumphs and success over the previous 12

On display was an impressive array of trophies ready to be awarded by the captains of their respective sections of the club.

Amongst the winners and runnersup were some familiar names but it was also pleasing to see some new names appearing on the list of winners.

It was also good to see some of the younger members of the club emulating their parents in achieving success in the junior division competitions

With the recent harsh weather seemingly temporarily abated, the club staged its first medal event of

Although the day was relatively warm for the time of year with only a gentle breeze blowing and with greens running true and quick for the time of year, the fairways were not giving much run due to the recent wet weather.

However, several good cards were submitted. Most notably Rob Coombe (14) carded an excellent Gross 81 (net 67) to win Division One. Division Two was won by club treasurer Jerry Linnert (20) with a gross 91 (net 71).

♦ WINNERS of the junior section competitions together with 2010 club captain Jerry Donlon

The Monday following the successful completion of the medal event saw a significant change in the weather and course conditions.

With a strong southerly wind blowing, following overnight rain, buggies were not allowed on the course and the field was consequently much reduced.

However, some of the the 47 stalwarts who did venture out for the Stableford competition recorded some highly respectable scores in the conditions. In Division One Ted Baker (15) not only scored a highly commendable 37 points but recorded the only "two" of the day.

In second place was the ever consistent Brian Ridley (18) with 34 points with Mike Betteridge(18) achieving third on countback with 33 points.

Division Two was won by Peter Williams (23) with 31 points

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

w race for local runne

AXE Valley Runners' (AVR) Any Which Way You Can nine and 15-mile runs saw participants checkpoints, finding six answering numeric questions, remembering the answers and adding up the numbers at the end.

This was a new AVR event, staged on Sunday, January 16th and designed as a bit of Grizzly Run training.

Checkpoints were at Jobbleshayes Woods, Blackbury Camp, Berry Barton Farm, Under Hooken path plus two places in Seaton.

Slower runners started earlier in an attempt to get everyone finishing nearly together, ready to devour the pasties, cakes and tea at the end.

Fortunately, the weather was kind and a superb morning's run was had

John Day and Alex Todd were the 15-mile winners with Wayne Tooze and Matthew Tyne the shorter route

But the true winner was Seaton Scout Group which, despite a very low entry fee of £3, ended up making nearly £200 (including donations).

For some of the runners it was the first time running these distances, made even tougher by the boggy conditions in the many woods - but they all completed the course and do deserve hearty congratulations.

AVR's Dave Mutter said: "Special mention to Complete Meats and Ganesha Wholefoods of Axminster for sponsoring those delicious oggies; the kitchen team led by Gill Day for being so ebullient and efficient; the Woodward clan for providing tea and coffee and anyone else who helped make a grey Sunday really special. Bring on the Grizzly.'

The first handicap race in the 2011 series was won by Beth Sibley in 35:30, a new personal best by nearly

The first two finishers hadn't done enough qualifying runs, but produced scarily fast times.

Robbie Holt ran in 21:42 and Sam Anning in 22:39.

Rhea Shave was second of the qualified runners in 32:28.

Tim Sibley was third in 26:12; Kelly Dack fourth in 30:26 and Eleanor Wood fifth with 25:30.

Max Bowskill won the shorter junior handicap in 17:57; with Liam McLean second in 17:08; James Knapp third in 16:15; Emily Elliott fourth, in 14:47 and Josh Coates fifth in 14·43

The Grizzly is fast approaching taking place on Sunday, March 13th.

The day before there will be a Griz Fest at Cliff Field Gardens, including a 2k family fun run and a 4k junior grizzly race sponsored by Seaton's many shops donating spot prizes for the runners.

It's a festival with a village fete theme, all under canvas, with bouncy castles, face painters and all Seaton community groups are invited to have a stall.

Shops or cafes are welcome to get involved in any of the competitions to be run during the festival.

There will be a best decorated shop window with a Grizzly theme competition, and a treasure hunt.

Cafes, restaurants, bakers and butchers can also take part in the best Grizzly dish competition.

If you would like to donate a spot involved with any of prize for the junior races or get the competitions, please let Kay d'Albertanson know on 01297 625437 or 07901 906 988.

HONITON RUGBY CLUB — JUNIORS

AFTER a six-week break thanks to the adverse weather and Christmas the Honiton Rugby Club under 7s and 8s finally returned to action in a home game against near neighbours Sidmouth.

In the first match the under 8s lost narrowly to a far more experienced Sidmouth team who edged a real thriller eight tries to six thanks to their superior passing game

However, Honiton should be proud of their defensive effort and for coming back strongly from four scores down with four tries from man of the match Sam Steel and one a piece from Joe Evens and captain Kade Bralesford.

The under 7s also impressed in another close game in which they lost seven tries to six in a game that could have gone either way.

After a slow start Honiton improved with captain Osian Owen tagging tirelessly to thwart some early Sidmouth pressure before Honiton found their feet in attack in an end to end game.

Honiton try scorers were Joe Evens who grabbed three, while Brodi Drinkwater scored his first for the club along with Josh Giles who was also making his debut and man of the match Luke

JUNIOR RUGBY

GAME of the season so far as both teams played out a hard fought draw.

Tough tackling by both sides limited the try scoring to three each with Honiton going over in the last two minutes to tie the game.

A special mention for Steven Thompson for his efforts in the tight and man of the match Luke Bralsford for scoring all three tries Honitons coaches are extremely pleased with the whole team effort.

Honiton U11s 0 Sidmouth U11s 0

Even though there was no score in this game it did not take away from the fact there was some great rugby played throughout the game.

Honiton tackled exceptionally well. Sidmouth had a couple of opportunities to break away but Honiton's defence were up to the task in hand and worked hard. Both teams tackled hard and Honiton were very unlucky not to score as they spent a lot of time in the Sidmouth half

Man of the match went to the whole team for a fantastic team

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE ROUND-UP

SEATON Town's magnificent run of 10 successive Premier victories came to a juddering end at Heavitree Social United where they were beaten 3-1.

The Premier leaders did get their noses in front at Wingfield Park through Dan Norman, but Heavitree later equalised from Wayne King and after that were the dominant side. Ben Henderson and Ryan Crocker goals took the game away from Seaton whose manager Josh Stunnell missed the match as he was attending the birth of his new baby.

Second from top East Budleigh were also held to a draw 0-0 by bottom of the table Honiton Town who really impressed the home side. Exeter University returned to winning ways beating Feniton 3-0. Kevin Mills scored twice for Uplowman Athletic in their 4-2 win at home to Colyton.

The tie between Farway United of the Perry Street League and Exmouth Town Reserves was again washed out and will be restaged for this coming Saturday

OFFWELL FC

OFFWELL 2nds secured a 4-1 win away to Langdon.

In blustery conditions it only took two minutes for Offwell to open the score sheet when Karl Allen capitalised on a defensive error. It was 1-0 at half time, but with the wind in their favour the second half about 15 mins in Ben Fullick slotted home their second goal.

Langdon replied 10 mins later when awarded a free kick, to make it

It took until about 10 mins from full time for Liam Spiller to find his scoring boots, and score two goals in quick succession, a good all round performance in the conditions and man of the match was awarded to Ben Fullick who never stopped working the whole game.

PERRY STREET LEAGUE ROUND-UP AND CUP MATCH NEWS

VICTORY ENDS A RUN OF DEFEATS

By KEVIN FAHEY

sport.pulmans@tindlenews.co.uk

CHARMOUTH'S rousing 3-2 victory over Norton Athletic finally brought to an end one of the longest win-less runs in the Perry Street League.

Goals from Dan Rumsby, Ali Harvey and Danny Rendell not only secured the points but also earned the club their first league win since May

Since then Charmouth have gone a miserable 32 league games without a win, including the whole of last season when they were relegated from the Premier Division.

"This win has been a long time coming and all I can say is that I am very proud of the players," said assistant Cottershall.

"I was forced to make a few changes for the match and had to bring in a couple of 16 and 17-year-olds who were magnificent. It was nice to see players smiling again and hopefully this result can kick-start our season.

Remarkably Cottershall was taking charge of his first game as manager Nicky Pomeroyd is away on holiday.

In stark contrast to Charmouth Division One leaders Winsham lost their unbeaten record when they slipped to a surprise 1-0 defeat at Netherbury. John Kingston scored the decisive goal early in the game and despite intensive pressure the home side held on for a victory that closes the gap on their visitors.

Another side enjoying their first win

Chinnock, who beat Ilminster Town reserves 4-1 in the Premier Division.

"I think we have been everyone's favourites to go down after losing some key players but I think we are going to be okay," said manager Nick Eckland

We have had a difficult start but the team is getting better and this first win will be crucial."

Charlie Rutter gave Ilminster the lead but Ollie Hutchings equalised and in the second half further strikes from skipper Damian Hart, Aaron Langdon and man-of-the-match Russell Lock clinched the points to lift Chinnock off the bottom.

At the other end of the table goals from Steve Batey, Julian Simier and Joel Gosling earned reigning champions Lyme Regis a 3-2 win against Merriott Rovers.

They were above us in the league so I'm really pleased with the result," said manager Robin Townsend. "We are getting there."

One of the biggest wins of the day came in Division Three from Lyme Regis Bantams with a 7-2 thrashing of Farway Reserves. Teenager Jack Durrant was the star with a hat-trick with two from Ryan Fifer and further goals from Gerard Hitchcock and Derek Walkey.

Division Two goal-hungry Dowlish and Donyatt closed the gap on leaders Beaminster Reserves with a 5-0 win over Forton Rangers, taking their tally to 15 goals in three games.

Matt Vinayl bagged two with Darren Dabinet, John Bartlett and Tom Evans completing the scoring.

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE — COLYTON TOWN FC

sixth defeat of the season

Devon & Exeter League Division 2 Uplowman Athletic 4 Colyton 2

COLYTON crashed to their sixth defeat of the season after conceding two late second half goals via a potent Uplowman Athletic strike force.

It was a disappointing end to the afternoon against an Unlowman side that began the game three points and two places above Colyton.

It was not all doom and gloom though as Colyton created enough clear goal scoring opportunities to have won half a dozen matches. The woefully poor finishing is a major concern, which was not aided by the fact that regular centre forward, Richard Tratt had to play in the heart of the defence due to various

In fact, Tratt had an excellent afternoon and was the pick of the bunch of the Coly players on display. Coly completely ripped open the Jplowman defence within the Uplowman defence within the opening five minutes. The first chance fell to Callum Somers who raced clear and with only the keeper beat, his weak shot sailed harmlessly wide of the target.

Then it was strike partner Jason Potters turn, who found himself in the same position, a combination of poor decision making and poor finishing saw the home keeper beat out three attempted shots at close range before the ball finally pushing the ball out for a corner.

A couple of over hit wasteful corners from Colyton let Uplowman off the hook but the chances still kept oming. Somers was left unmarked about ten yards from goal, but his weak shot was easily dealt with by the home keeper.

On 16 minutes Uplowman put their first construction move together and it resulted in the opening goal, a great delivery into the area; a mix up in the defence saw the ball stabbed home for Uplowman's first goal.

The goal galvanised Uplowman and Coly started to struggle in all areas. Players were diving in all over the pitch, failing to press and Uplowman really took a firm grip on the game.

Against the run of play Coly drew level on 36 minutes, Somers again ran clear, this time his run into the area was unfairly ended by the keeper and Mike Cullum made no mistake, blasting home the spot kick for the equaliser.

The joy was short-lived as four minutes later Uplowman regained the lead. Colyton conceded a needless free kick and this combined with poor defending down our left flank presented the Uplowman wide player the opportunity to slide the ball across the face of goal where his team mate was on hand to guide the ball home at the far post.

A constructive half time talk saw Coly start the second period, against the elements, in confident fashion. showing determination and bite in the tackle.

Jason Potter worked himself a good chance early into the half, turning well on the half way line he strolled clear of the chasing pack, but he disappointingly smashed his shot the wrong side of the upright.

On 59 minutes the teams were all square. A free kick from Gary May found Cullum who flicked out a boot to steer the ball past the home keeper.

The game ebbed and flowed with both side creating chances but a draw looked the outcome. With six minutes remaining very naïve defending from Colvton resulted in Tratt being left one on one at the back, his desperate last ditch tackle was poorly timed and penalty was rightly awarded to Reid had no chance to stop the well struck penalty. With time running out Coly pushed four upfront, but it was to not avail as Uplowman exploited the gaps at the back and on 88 minutes they settled the game with a fourth goal.

It was a bad result for Colyton, but the team need to get their heads up and go to Westexe next Saturday and try to win that one.

Better news from the reserves after another excellent team performance saw them record their seventh win of the season after beating Lympstone 2-0. Duane Gay had a great game between the sticks and the goal scorers were Dylan Hawkins and Ed

JAMES Bennett has revealed that his decision to step down as manager of Axminster had nothing to do with the team's disappointing form this season.

Bennett, who has been replaced by Nick Ogden, quit last week with the team anchored at the foot of the table with only three points from 14 games but said the decision had been taken for personal reasons and he wasn't put under any pressure from the club

"The decision had nothing to do with the team, players or results," said Bennett. "I twisted my knee badly before Christmas and that has since been diagnosed as cruciate ligaments damage.

"I'm looking at an operation towards the end of next month or early March and I need to get my fitness up before the operation. I need to concentrate on my own health for the moment so it was my decision to step down."

Ogden, the former manager of Devon and Exeter League side Offwell, took charge against Galmpton Utd on Saturday but had little time to make an impact as they slipped to a 4-0 defeat.

"We wanted to take the game to them from the start and set the team up in an attacking formation but errors are costing us dearly and it is up to Kevin [Turner, assistant manager] and myself to help the players cut them out," said Ogden.

"We had spells during the game were we played some neat stuff but we couldn't sustain it. The players deserve a lot of credit for never giving up and with that attitude. hard work, and some new additions I'm sure they will start picking up results sooner rather later.

THE early red card for Otters goalkeeper Tony Ali provide decisive as Dane Bunney's side never recovered.

Ali was sent off after just 15 minutes when he upended Alphington striker Peter Drake as he upended raced through on goal.

Ali, who was a former player at Alphington, was immediately shown the red card and to make matters worse Matt Wonnacott scored from the spot.

Three minutes before half-time Wonnacott then added a second, also from the spot after a foul by Darryl Johnson on Gary Haves and the third came from Tim Cridland in the second half

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE AXMOUTH UNITED FC

AXMOUTH got back to winning ways with a sixth away win of the season, this time at Silverton. On a difficult pitch and poor conditions they secured all three points with a workmanlike performance against a hard working side.

The home team started brightly and looked to make the most of home advantage and for the first five minutes Axmouth looked a bit slow to get going. However, soon after the visitors got into their stride and had more possession without creating too many chances until after 22 minutes a good passing move saw Asa Sandman play a through ball for Dan Reynolds to chase down when the home defenders thought it was going out, he got in a good first time ball and Charlie Clarke showed his strikers instincts and just beat the keeper to slot the ball home and open the scoring.

The rest of the half was fairly evenly contested with the pitch dictating that good foodball wasn't going to be too much on display. Silverton with their home knowledge looked to play the long ball as the main tactic but the Axmouth back four of Sweeney, Sweetland, Challis and Dack managed to deal with it apart from one opportunity on 29 minutes when their striker managed to get clear and race onto a long ball and have a one-on-one with keeper Andrew Smart but he stood tall and pulled off a fantastic save to keep them one up.

That looked like being the half time score until a free kick in the last minute some 25 or more vards out was fired home by Joe Berry who seems to excel in scoring spectacular goals, to make it 2-0 to the away side

The second half started much the same with Ax on top and now creating more chances and in the 57th minute another set piece saw Dan Reynolds get on the end of a fine delivery from Jamie Hughes to head home a third and a comfortable win seemed secure. The home side battled on and just three minutes later the long ball tactic worked as their winger just beat advancing Smart to touch it past him and finish well, for a moment it looked like Silverton might make a fight of it but just three minutes later Clarke was felled in the box and up stepped Hughes to make it 4-1 from the penalty spot.

With 27 minutes to go Axmouth made some changes and introduced new signing Tiago Braga to make his debut and help stifle any comeback with Jon Taylor also coming on.

Axmouth saw the game out and remain on target to challenge for honours.

A good display from all involved without playing anywhere near their best and notable performances from many but Challis just gets the man of the match vote for a dominant arial display and some perfectly timed last ditch tackles.

GOALKEPER HOSPITALISED

By KEVIN FAHEY

sport.pulmans@tindlenews.co.ul

STEVE O'Brien is back recovering at his Axminster home this week after an horrific injury saw him being rushed to hospital by the Devon Air Ambulance Trust service.

The 24-year-old Millwey Rise goalkeeper was knocked unconscious following a clash of heads during the second half of the Perry Street League Division One game at home to Crewkerne Town.

When medical staff arrived they quickly decided that it was essential to get O'Briot to hospital as soon as possible so the air ambulance service was called, initially to take him to the Royal Devon and Exeter and then later transfer him to the specialist neurological unit at Plymouth's Derriford Hospital.

"They put me into a coma for nine hours and when I woke up in the helicopter going down to Plymouth and started fighting they put me under again," said O'Brien.

"I had some scans which luckily didn't show any damage but I have fractured my skull at the back of my head and I will be out of action for one or two months. Luckily they have allowed me back home and I don't feel too bad. I'd play again next week if they let me!"

The incident happened during a second half corner when Millwey were leading 3-1.

"I don't know what happened to be honest and all I can remember is looking at the corner flag," added O'Brien. "Apparently one of their players came in

"Apparently one of their players came in to head the ball and caught me on the back of the head. I was wiped out and just hit the deck and started fitting. One of our lads put me in the recovery position and then they called the ambulance. I don't remember a thine."

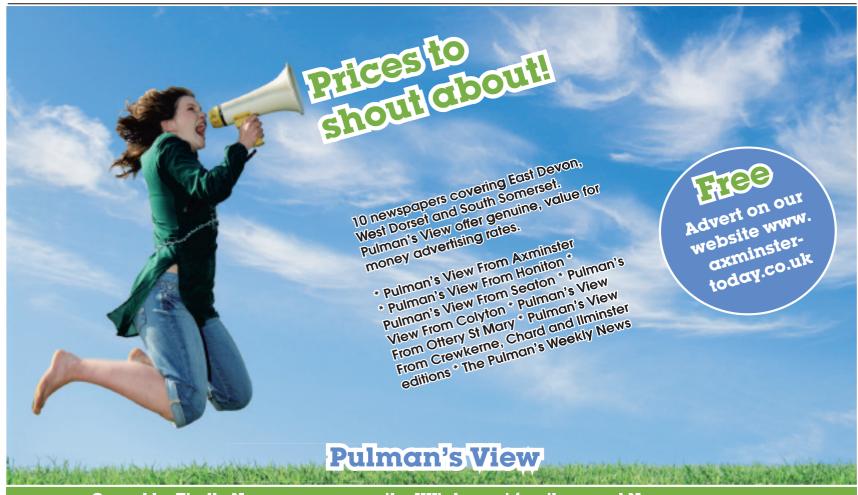

Millwey Rise manager Shane Featherstone said the game was held up for almost an hour while the helicopter arrived and staff assessed the situation.

"It was very upsetting but there was no malice at all in the challenge, it was just one of those things that happen in football," said Featherstone.

"Steve is a really nice lad and everyone at the club wishes him a speedy recovery."
